

10 Ways to Enjoy Misquamicut Beach

BY THE MBA

Misquamicut is a coastal village located in the town of Westerly, centered around a three-mile stretch of beach. It offers a mix of public shoreline, local businesses, cottages, and seasonal attractions. You can eat, park, stay, shop, and explore—all within one beach community.

Whether it's your first visit or something you do every summer, there's more to Misquamicut than just laying on the sand. Here are ten simple ways to make the most of your day.

1. GET THERE EARLY

If you arrive before late morning, everything is easier—parking, getting settled, and avoiding the biggest crowds. Misquamicut offers several parking options, including the state beach (with the largest lot) as well as a number of privately operated lots that are open to the public, each with its own amenities and access points.

For a full list of parking options, visit Misquamicut.org/parking.

2. GET IN THE WATER

Swimming, jumping waves, or just cooling off—it's the main reason people come here. You can also head over to Winnapaug Pond, where paddleboards and kayaks are available to rent for a different way to enjoy the water.

3. WALK THE BEACH

Take a walk up or down the shoreline. It's one of the easiest and best parts of the day.

4. PLAN YOUR FOOD TIMING

Most places get busy between 12:00 and 2:00. If your schedule allows, eating a little earlier or later can make things quicker and more relaxed.

A Night at the Misquamicut Drive-In

BY THE MBA

After a full day at the beach—sun, sand, maybe a little too much food—there's a classic way to wind things down without ever leaving Misquamicut.

Just get in your car... and stay there.

Now in its 16th year, the Misquamicut Drive-In, located at 316 Atlantic Ave, has become a summer tradition for visitors and locals alike. Operated by the Misquamicut Business Association, it's one of those simple ideas that just works—pull in, tune your radio, and enjoy a movie under the night sky.

Gates open at 6:30 PM, and if you know what you're doing, you don't show up at 8:55 and expect a great spot. Get there early, settle in, and enjoy the full experience. Movies begin at 9:00 PM, with an earlier 8:30 PM start time in August as the days get shorter.

And yes—the show starts before the movie.

The pre-show has quietly become a favorite part of the night.

Don't Miss FallFest at Misquamicut

BY THE MBA

Most people think of Misquamicut as a summer destination. They're only half right.

Because just when the season starts to wind down, something else takes over—the beach shifts into a new kind of weekend experience.

Now in its 17th year, the Misquamicut Business Association's FallFest has become one of the biggest events of the season, bringing visitors back to the beach for a full weekend of food, music, and activity.

This year's FallFest takes place September 18, 19, and 20:

Friday: 5:00 PM – 10:00 PM

Saturday: 12:00 PM – 10:00 PM

Sunday: 12:00 PM – 5:00 PM

Admission is $14, with children 8 and under free, and free parking available. Discount tickets are also available in advance at Eventbrite.com.

FallFest, presented by Pepsi, brings together everything that makes Misquamicut a destination—live entertainment, great food, and a full weekend atmosphere right along the beach.

You'll find Main Stage entertainment presented by Yale New Haven Health Westerly Hospital, along with a variety of performances and activities, including a karate demonstration and other family-friendly attractions.

Saturday features a classic car show from 12:00 PM to 3:00 PM, adding another highlight to the weekend and drawing visitors of all ages.

Food is a big part of the weekend, with a wide range of options throughout the festival, along with a dedicated beer and wine area sponsored by the Windjammer, giving visitors a place to relax and enjoy the event.

There's also plenty of shopping, with local vendors and beach businesses offering everything from food items to gifts, apparel, and more throughout the festival grounds.

This year also features a fresh layout and updated setup, giving the event a new feel while keeping everything people enjoy about it.

And Fall is a great time to be at the beach. The weather is comfortable, the water is still warm, and all of the Misquamicut businesses remain open, making it easy to enjoy the full beach experience throughout the weekend.

It's a chance to walk the beach, grab something to eat, browse, listen to live music, and take in the atmosphere without trying to fit everything into a single summer day.

And for many visitors, it's also a great time to stay for the weekend. With the season winding down, many hotels, bed & breakfasts, and rental cottages offer more availability and value, making it an ideal time to plan an overnight trip.

For families, it's an easy outing. For couples, it's a great weekend to visit. And for anyone who has spent time at Misquamicut during the summer, it's another reason to come back and see it in a different way.

FallFest has become a tradition for many, and each year it continues to grow.

FallFest is produced by the Misquamicut Business Association, with support from community partners including 102.3 The Wolf (media sponsor), DV Mechanical, and Shoreline Sanitation.

So while you're planning your summer trip, keep one more date in mind.

Because the season doesn't end at Labor Day. At Misquamicut, it just changes. ♦

5. LISTEN TO LIVE MUSIC

Music is a big part of the beach scene all summer.

Tunes on the Dunes takes place on Monday and Wednesday nights, bringing live bands right to the beach.

Many beachfront establishments also offer live entertainment in the afternoon and evening, so you'll find music happening throughout the area all day and into the night.

6. WALK THE BEACH AREA

Atlantic Ave is the main strip at Misquamicut, with food, shops, and activity all in one place.

You'll also find options along Winnapaug Road and Crandall Ave, which offer additional places to explore.

For a longer walk, use the Minabaug pedestrian and bike lane, which connects the east and west ends of the beach.

7. BRING THE KIDS

The beach is perfect for families—sand, water, and plenty to keep kids busy all day.

8. STAY FOR SUNSET

Later in the day, things calm down. It's a great time to sit back and take it in.

If you're in the right spot, you might even hear Coconut Kevin blowing his conch shell at sunset—a local tradition worth catching.

9. STICK AROUND AFTER DARK

The beach doesn't shut down at night.

There's still music, food, and people out enjoying the evening.

10. GO TO THE DRIVE-IN

End your day with something different. The Misquamicut Drive-In is a classic way to watch a movie outside near the beach.

MAKE IT YOUR DAY

There's no one way to do Misquamicut. Walk around, try different things, and settle into what works for you.

And if one day isn't enough, consider staying a little longer. The area offers hotels, bed & breakfasts, rental cottages, and other options—making it easy to turn a day trip into a full beach getaway. ♦

80 Years of The Andrea

BY THE MBA

For 80 years, The Andrea has been part of the fabric of Misquamicut Beach. What began as The Andrea Tea Room in 1946 has grown through generations of family, friends, longtime guests, summer traditions, and unforgettable memories. Through every chapter, The Andrea has remained a place built on hospitality, community, resilience, and the feeling that everyone who walks through the doors is part of something special.

Today, The Andrea continues that legacy as a beachfront restaurant and gathering place for great food, drinks, events, ocean views, and the kind of summer memories that keep people coming back year after year. As we celebrate our 80th season, we invite you to be part of the next chapter. Join us May through October to celebrate 80 years of The Andrea on Misquamicut Beach. ♦

Custom nostalgia reels, created by Chris Walsh and Caswell Cooke, take you back with classic commercials from the 60s, 70s, and 80s. Old jingles, long-forgotten products, and a few “I remember that” moments mixed in with current local sponsors. It’s part time machine, part entertainment—and people genuinely look forward to it.

Then comes the movie.

The lineup is built for a crowd, with a mix of classics, family favorites, and films people actually want to watch on a summer night. You might catch Jaws just a short walk from the ocean, sing along to Grease or Mamma Mia, or settle in for favorites like Jurassic Park, The Goonies, Dirty Dancing, Back to the Future, Top Gun, The Karate Kid, E.T., or The Lion King.

But the drive-in is not just about movies.

Throughout the summer, the venue also hosts select live band performances, giving visitors a different kind of night out and adding even more variety to the season. Some nights it’s all about the screen, and other nights the entertainment comes live from the stage.

That variety is part of what has made the drive-in such a favorite. It has also become part of something bigger, proudly hosting screenings as part of the FLICKER Rhode Island International Film Festival, bringing independent film to the beach each summer.

And for something completely different, there’s the annual screening of The Rocky Horror Picture Show with the RKO Army, a fan-favorite event that turns the drive-in into a full audience-participation experience.

The setup is easy and comfortable.

There are restrooms on site, along with a concession stand offering popcorn, candy, Coca-Cola products, and hot dogs.

One important note: the drive-in is cashless, so plan accordingly.

Admission is $25 per car, making it one of the easiest and most affordable ways to entertain a group, a family, or just yourself after a long day.

For showtimes, concert dates, schedules, and tickets, visit mbadrivein.com.

Whether you’ve just come off the beach, finished dinner nearby, or are looking for something to do later in the evening, the Misquamicut Drive-In fits right into the rhythm of a summer day.

No lines, no rushing around—just pull in, tune in, and enjoy the night. ♦

Classics, Cold Drinks, and Community at Misquamicut’s Car Cruise Nights

BY CHEIKH HIGGS

Do you remember the feeling of getting behind the wheel by yourself for the first time? After finally passing your written test, overcoming the daunting parallel parking section of your road test, and completing all of the necessary, tedious paperwork, you were finally ready to hit the road. That feeling of fear mixed with excitement is second to none. You had no particular destination, but how liberating was it just to be able to drive somewhere? That childlike joy, instead of a source of stress (think traffic on the commute, insurance, or your engine going out right after you got a raise at work), the car as a symbol of freedom is exactly what Tim Connelly wants people to hold onto.

“Cars should be driven,” says Connelly, who organizes the weekly Classic Car Cruise Nights every Tuesday evening in July and August at Misquamicut Beach. “They should be enjoyed. They should be taken out for other people to see. There’s pleasure involved in that.”

Celebrating its 26th year this summer, the cruise nights have become a staple of the Misquamicut summer experience that car enthusiasts and laypeople alike look forward to each year. The event dates back to 2000, when the Misquamicut Business Association, which had been defunct for about a decade, came back together and was looking for some simple, enjoyable activities that would draw people to the beach. One of the first ideas was to run a weekly car show, a straightforward and modest idea that has stood the test of time and grown into a beloved tradition.

“I want to attract as many people as possible,” Connelly shares. “It really is a group of people who love coming and who enjoy what they’re doing with their vehicles. It’s a great opportunity to meet new people.”

Over the years, the event has grown from a small handful of cars gathered near the beach, to an average of 60-100 vehicles each night. Connelly was able to elucidate the difference between a car show and a car cruise for me. I appreciate a nice car as much as the next guy, but this was new information. The cruise nights are intentional about not having a judging aspect. At a traditional car show, a panel of experts examines your vehicle, and the crowd will also cast votes to pick a winner. That’s not what this is. Every person who comes with a car receives a raffle ticket, and prizes like car cleaning kits, wax, and other automotive supplies are drawn throughout the evening, ending with a $100 grand prize sponsored by classic rock radio station 102.3 The Wolf.

“I want this to be an even playing field,” Connelly says. “The kid driving a broken-down car who’s got a big heart and loves to do this and is learning about it can win just as easily as the guy driving a $100,000 ‘65 Corvette. His heart is there. He loves it, and I really appreciate that.” Another distinction between a car show and Misquamicut’s cruise nights is that while shows are competitive and formal, with people spending a lot of time and money to achieve elite levels of refinement and detail in their vehicles, a cruise is really about the atmosphere. Attendees take in the beach views and classic rock pumping from DJ Doc, food and drink in hand from one of the neighboring restaurants, to create an all-around experience. New this year, food offerings will include hot dog vendor Dirty Water Dogs. The event has also widened the range of vehicles over the years. Military vehicles, beach buggies, Ford Model-Ts—anything with a good story behind it is fair game here.

For Connelly, the stories and the people are the best part of the whole thing. He lights up talking about “barn finds,” cars that have been stowed away in garages, under tarps, in yards, with all the original components intact. He loves seeing these types of vehicles on the road. “That feeling when you’re driving it, and somebody gives you a thumbs up,” he says. “It’s like taking a step back in time.”

You don’t need to be able to explain what a carburetor or catalytic converter is (I sure can’t) to have a good time here. More often than not, you’ll find yourself enthralled more by the various people you’ll meet, enthusiastic regulars saving spots for friends who are still on the way, strangers exchanging stories, and people who have become close friends over the years through meeting here, than by the cars themselves. The cars are the draw, but the people and the atmosphere are the reasons people return.

The Misquamicut Classic Car Cruise Nights run every Tuesday during July and August, beginning around 5 p.m. at the drive-in theater parking lot at Misquamicut Beach. Admission is free for spectators. Follow South County Cruisers on Facebook for information and updates about the show. ♦

Ribbons in the Sand

BY JOYCE KESKINEN FEDORKO

As the daily tides retreat, they often leave behind twisted bits of seaweed drying in the sun in long rows called strandlines.

Beachgoers shove the weeds aside in order to spread their blankets on the warm sand.

Closer examination of these remnants reveal a number of different kinds of seaweeds.

On land we have grasses, weeds, ivies, shrubs and trees. These are familiar plants that we see every day with their stems, leaves and roots.

Below the ocean surface there are many other plants. We usually do not see them until they have broken free from their growing sites.

Seaweeds, or algae, being plants that live in the ocean, must have a way to keep in their growing area and still be exposed to sunlight.

At the bottom of each seaweed is a structure called a HOLDFAST. It looks like a root, but each part has a sticky disc at the end which cements the weed to a rock or shell and holds it in place.

Unlike roots, the holdfast does not need to absorb water, since the seaweed is completely surrounded by water.

The plant needs sunlight in order to live. The leaf of a seaweed is called a BLADE. In large seaweeds such as kelp, the blade is supported by a thick structure called a STIPE.

It looks like a stem, but acts as a shock absorber to protect from strong currents and waves.

On our beaches you can find examples of the three colors of seaweeds: green, red and brown.

Bright green sea lettuce often floats ashore. It is soft and delicate as it drifts in. Some people actually eat it.

Red seaweeds, such as Irish moss, often have many small branches reaching out.

Then there are the brown seaweeds. One of the most recognizable browns is rockweed.

Often along the branching blades are swollen air bladders. These structures help the plant reach upward toward sunlight. As children, we often ran along the beach to jump on the bladders to make them pop. How sad...

Occasionally we can find kelp, another brown seaweed, whose blades can grow up to ten feet long.

Seaweeds have an unusual way to protect themselves when the tide retreats and they are left attached to shells or rocks near shore.

In order to not dry up and die in the sun, the algae ooze out mucus to cover the exposed parts.

If you step on a seaweed covered rock you may suddenly find yourself falling. Slippery stuff!

So, there are our ocean plant companions. Small crabs, snails, and fish swim among them for protection or for food.

Seahorses hold onto the stipes to protect themselves from harsh currents.

Check out our seaweeds on your next beach trip.

Good luck. ♦

Whoopies 'n Cream on the Beach

Whoopies 'n Cream on the Beach is a Connecticut-based mobile food truck originally specializing in whoopie pies and hard ice cream. Their most popular whoopie cakes include chocolate, carrot, and spice, along with others like strawberry, red velvet, and pumpkin. Their whoopies taste even better with toppings like Oreo, Nutter Butter, and Reese's, just to name a few.

They also serve Warwick Ice Cream—"the BEST," in their opinion—and combine the two into a "whoopwich," featuring whoopie cakes with your choice of ice cream. It's a treat that should definitely be part of your summer plans. In addition, they offer colossal ice cream floats, sundaes, whoopie sundaes, Del's lemonade, and more.

In addition to dessert, they'll be adding other beachside favorites to the menu like hamburgers, hot dogs, French fries, fried dough, and some light breakfast items, including breakfast sandwiches, baked French toast, bagels, danish, hot coffee, and more.

They're excited to be joining the Misquamicut Beach community this summer and look forward to serving locals and visitors alike.

See you at the beach! ♦
